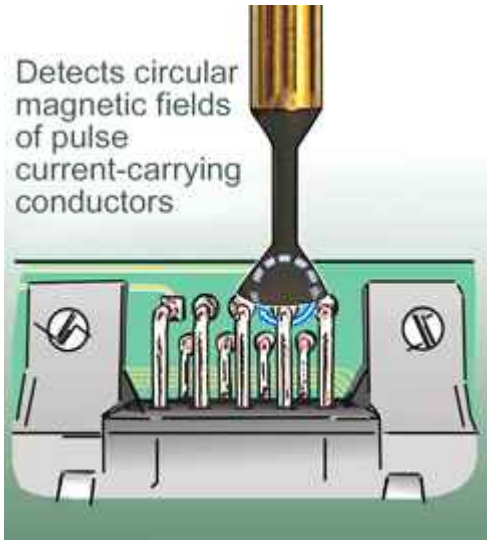
05K black

Probe Head for MSA 02

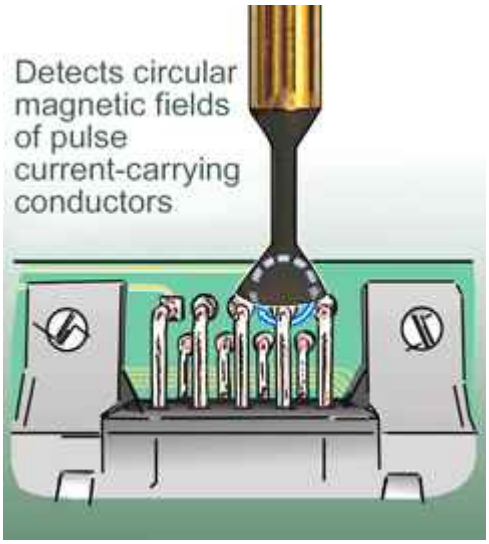


Short description

The measurement coils of 05K probe head are positioned orthogonally to the probe shaft. They allow for the selective measurement of the rotating magnetic field around the conductor. Burst current conducting conductors can be detected. They are particulary suitable for measurements at broad conducting paths and for plug connectors.

Homogenous surface fields are not detected by the probe.

Measuring principles



05K black

Probe Head for MSA 02

Application 05K